

Want Tax Filing To Be Simpler?

Use the 2009 Stock Plan Tax Filing Guides

UBS Financial Services Inc. (UBS) would like to remind you that stock plan tax filing information is only a “click” away on the UBS One Source website.

To assist you and your tax advisor, UBS provides guides that cover basic information about the tax implications of participating in equity compensation plans and general guidelines with sample scenarios for completing tax forms.

To access the website go to www.ubs.com/onesource/ticker (where ticker is your company’s stock symbol). On the login page, links are prominently displayed to the guides corresponding to the types of stock plans UBS administers for your company.

To obtain your year-end tax documents, log in to UBS One Source. You may easily view and print your Form 1099 (for US participants) or 1042 (for non-US participants), as well as transaction confirmations and advices for trades that occurred in 2009.*

We hope convenient access to the information you need helps simplify the tax filing process for you.

Regards,

Joel Rudin
Executive Director, Head of Participant Services
